ABOUT THE FACILITATOR

Randi Johl brings over 20+ years of experience and leadership in municipal government. She has served cities and special districts throughout California in various capacities, including as a law clerk in a municipal law firm, a legal analyst, a legislative affairs director and a city clerk. Most recently, Randi served as the project manager for a local revenue ballot measure generating over $20 million annually. Randi serves as the Legislative Director for CCAC and Board Member for the League of CA Cities, working with various State legislators and stakeholders on key pieces of legislation affecting open government and elections, including districting. Randi is a past president of CCAC and Chair of IIMC's Legislative Committee. She has served on various committees and task forces with CCAC, League and IIMC. Randi is a regular presenter at related conferences and seminars.

Randi Johl received her juris doctor, cum laude, from Trinity Law and Graduate School. She is the proud recipient of a "Law Student of the Year" and "City Clerk of the Year" award and has a passion for public service.

ABOUT THE BOOK

Leadership is not about titles, status, and wielding power. A leader is anyone who takes responsibility for recognizing the potential in people and ideas, and has the courage to develop that potential. When we dare to lead, we don't pretend to have the right answers; we stay curious and ask the right questions.
