

Kevin Christian, CMC
Deputy City Clerk
City of San Luis Obispo

Kevin Christian has worked for the City of San Luis Obispo since 2008, and in the City Clerk's office since 2014.

He graduated from California Polytechnic State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Graphic Communications Management. He enjoyed a career in magazine publishing which took him from California to New York, and then back to California. After returning to CA he became a University lecturer and lab instructor.

His desire to be an active member of his community and to make choices that always offer opportunities for learning led to him being appointed to a City Council Advisory Body. This in-turn led to working for the City in transportation planning and then to working for the City Clerk. The City Clerk profession has captured him with its always dynamic learning prospects, community involvement, and the rich network of statewide professionals.
